

Happy Scrapper September Newsletter

Carol, I thought I might give a few details about this month's meeting on September 14 about 10 ish.

I live at 900 N Fifth street in Beaumont. It is a two-story stucco on the corner of Fifth and Harrison. The best route is from 11th street in Beaumont; turn at the Dunkin Donuts on Harrison towards downtown (east—sun in your eyes..sorry). I do not advise MLK driving west on Calder as the train schedule is unpredictable and frequently stops on Calder blocking the intersections while blowing its horn (especially at 2AM)

I will be providing coffee and donuts from Dunkin, Mexican juice/sodas from Mercado de Familia, ham/biscuits, a potato/sausage/egg casserole/ and maybe blueberry coffee cake. I will not have iced tea but can make you a cup of hot black tea if you prefer.

I do need to know how many people are planning to come so I can make sure I have enough seating. I don't mind sitting on the floor but some of you may prefer chairs.

Things for you to bring;

Your wool embroidery block (Jane Beadle's project for the auction organized by Linda T)

Rooster in the henhouse blocks (label with your name and the number of blocks)

And I'd like you to bring one of your UFO"S. It doesn't need to be a quilting or sewing project but I think it will be fun to see them and chat about them.

I do have stairs to get into the house—no railings but the stairs are quite wide and maybe my husband can assist anyone who needs a bit of help. I'll put my walker in the bathroom—that toilet is low but the walker should serve as handrails for anyone that needs them. My sewing room is upstairs and is not open for inspection (sorry) I'll send some photos to PJ's sweet husband to post on the site so you can see it but not deal with all my stairs and the two dogs who will be camping out upstairs.

And of note: there may be a new restaurant down the street from me at 797 N Fifth—it has been a restaurant at various times in the past, the longest lasting one was Bryan's. This one is Mrz Teez, a food truck that will be brick and mortar.
